INDEPENDENT DEVELOPMENT PRODUCER OPPORTUNITY

Paladin Studio Production Inc. | Producer's Portal

Paladin Studio Production Inc. publishes original fiction by JR Friend across five different Paladin Universes and develops published books for film and television. We are inviting independent producers with studio, production and distribution relationships to introduce our film projects to qualified buyers.

Who we are looking for

You have working relationships with studios, producers, financiers or distributors, and a record of getting projects in front of them. You believe in character-driven stories, and you are comfortable representing a new, independent company with care and integrity.

How the arrangement works

Term	What it means
Project by project	Each engagement covers one named project. It does not give access to the rest of our catalog.
Independent contractor	You work independently. You are not an employee, agent or partner of Paladin, and you have no ownership stake in the company or its stories.
Performance-based	There is no salary or retainer. Compensation depends on results and is set out in a written agreement.
Non-exclusive, 12-month term	Your engagement runs for twelve months. Paladin continues to take direct inquiries and make its own deals.
Introductions to film buyers only	You introduce our projects to buyers of film rights. You do not raise investment money or take on funding for Paladin.
Approved materials only	You share only materials we approve, and only with buyers who have accepted our Terms and Conditions.
Confidential	Our materials and deal terms stay confidential, and you do not approach our authors or rights holders directly.
We sign the deals	You have no authority to bind Paladin or promise any term. Only our Founder signs final agreements.

How to apply

Email Satom Chhim, Founder, at satomchhim@paladinstudiobooks.com with the following:

1. Your name, location and contact details.
2. A short summary of your background and the buyers or companies you work with.
3. The project you are interested in.
4. Links to your credits, website or professional profile.

What happens next

We review every application personally. If it looks like a good fit, we will arrange a call and send you our Independent Development Producer Agreement to review with your own adviser before anything begins. We may ask you to confirm your credits or references.

This page is an invitation to apply and is not an offer of employment, engagement or representation. Terms are set only in a written agreement signed by both parties. Paladin and its authors keep all rights in their books, stories and materials.
